

New thinking in micro-finance

We now have substantial evidence that micro-finance benefits the poor. The Andhra Pradesh crisis of 2010 has blocked the erstwhile trajectory of Indian micro-finance. Actions by government are now of crucial importance in determining what comes next. What should these actions be?

7 February 2012
Mahogany Room, India Habitat Center, New Delhi

Agenda

- | | |
|--------------|--|
| 14:00-14:30 | The unique policy problems of micro-credit
Renuka Sane, IGIDR |
| 14:30-15:00 | New thinking in micro-pensions
Gautam Bhardwaj, Invest India Economic Foundation |
| 15:00-15:30 | Alternative financing models for micro-finance
Anand Sahasranaman, IFMR Finance Foundation |
| 15:30-16:00 | Legal issues with micro-credit
Shubho Roy, NIPFP |
| 16:00--17:00 | Discussion |